Loop

Il percorso parte dalla Piazza centrale di Tambre ed attraversa il borgo di Sant’Anna prima di immettersi nella foresta del Cansiglio. Si alternano scorci panoramici sull’Alpago, le Dolomiti e la Valbelluna prima di raggiungere i pascoli sui quali sono distribuite varie malghe, in attività durante il periodo estivo.

From the stairs in the square of Tambre going up the path Le Val you shortly reach Sant'Anna. The "blade" of the Lamaraz, a small stretch of water of carsic origin, is situated before the "House of the Book", a curious building created by wooden books by the venetian artist Livio De Marchi. You then go down through Sant'Anna to plunge into the Cansiglio wood from the homonymous church. You climb in altitude walking in the woods to go out in the forest road of Col Saler, then after the paved road of Val de Piera Bassa (the left barrier), you find the deviation shown to you that will get you to the open air, to the municipal pastures of the huts of Tambre. You will see the large landscape of Alpage, of Dolomites and of Valbelluna. Going up again along the limit of the forest accompanied by the pastures of animals and sensing those hidden in the forest, after the Malga Pian Grant, a farmhouse open in the weekends and during the opening season, and Malga Pian de le Lastre you will get to Malga Manteo. You will also have the view on the east of the sinkhole of Cansiglio. From the Manteo following down the lawn of Contaront until "Casa de Nonno Raffaele" (Grandpa Raffaele's House), a dirt road will get you among lawn, both private and municipal forests to Tambre.
